

Additional Text:

According to the Public Health Agency of Canada, 54 people in Canada are diagnosed with epilepsy every day. Canadians living with epilepsy can experience different health and social consequences. With the right care, individuals with epilepsy can manage their seizures with medication and lifestyle changes.